Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) is affecting companies across the nation and around the world in a variety of ways. Dykema is closely monitoring the legal ramifications of the crisis and evaluating the potential impact to businesses in a wide variety of industries.

This Quick Reference Guide is for informational purposes only and is not intended to be legal advice. It is issued as of its dated date, and may be updated and reissued, which is important to consult as these matters change daily. The most current version is always available on Dykema's COVID-19 Resource Center, and is intended to help our clients and other organizations better understand current government actions that may affect their respective business operations. The Resource Center is available here:

ENDNOTES

1. This spreadsheet provides a comprehensive overview of the services each state deems “Essential” and excepted from the general orders to close or stay-at-home. These lists are not all inclusive, and some of the general categories are restricted further to limit those essential services within the general category. For a comprehensive list of your state’s “Essential Services” please contact your Dykema relationship attorney.
2. Some states have expressly adopted the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency’s (CISA) list of critical infrastructures. States that have not expressly adopted the CISA guidance on critical infrastructure have mirrored the essential services closely. A comprehensive list of critical infrastructure and essential services adopted by CISA can be found here.
