Bob Groholski concentrates his practice in the areas of financial services and commercial litigation. In his financial services practice, Mr. Groholski counsels financial services providers regarding compliance with federal and state laws and regulations pertaining to foreclosure practices. Mr. Groholski also represents banks, mortgage lenders, and servicers in matters involving commercial foreclosures, work-outs, and various methods of payment utilized by businesses in international transactions.

In his commercial litigation practice, Mr. Groholski represents clients in matters involving breach of contract, fraud, fraudulent transfers, business torts, unfair competition, trade secrets, non-competition agreements, equitable remedies, patent infringement and real estate disputes.

Experience

- Represented a major lender in connection with regulatory review of residential foreclosure practices.
- Defended a member of an Illinois limited liability company against claims seeking temporary and permanent injunctive relief for breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract and tortious interference. Successfully obtained a denial of the plaintiff's emergency motion for a temporary restraining order, which was then affirmed by the Illinois Appellate Court on the plaintiff's expedited appeal of the denial of the temporary restraining order. The matter was later amicably resolved.
- Prosecuted a 10-day bench trial to quiet title on behalf of a buyer of a piece of property to be used for a medical imaging facility and defended buyer and related parties against counterclaims for quiet title, ejectment, theft, forgery and civil conspiracy. After the two-week trial on the quiet title claims, the trial court granted judgment in favor of the buyer and quieted title in its name. Thereafter, obtained summary judgment in favor of the buyer and related parties on the remaining counterclaims.
- Defended a local community bank and its directors in a jury trial involving claims for breach of contract and tortious interference. The matter amicably settled two weeks into the jury trial.
- Defended a global telecommunications equipment manufacturer and four of its new employees who were accused of stealing the trade secrets of their former employer and of tortiously interfering with the former employer's business. At the conclusion of a seven-day preliminary injunction hearing, the former employer's motion to enjoin the four employees from working for the new employer was denied by the trial court, and later affirmed by the Illinois Appellate Court. The case later favorably settled.

- Successfully litigated on behalf of a developer against the Village of South Barrington, Illinois involving a dispute in which the Village rescinded an ordinance permitting the developer to construct residences valued at approximately $250 million. The ordinance was reinstated.
- Obtained dismissals of two lawsuits brought against secured lender by unsecured creditors seeking to obtain priority over the secured lender.
- Represented an investor/purchaser of a Resolution Trust Corporation owned portfolio of non-performing commercial real estate loans. After a bench trial, obtained judgment in favor of the investor/purchaser in an accounting action against the owner of the property.
