Stepping Around the Money Pit: Practical Steps for Containing Costs in Major Legal Matters

September 19, 2017

Litigation and government investigations can present serious cost-management challenges. In many instances, clients and their in-house legal departments have opportunities to make a favorable impact on the cost and risk profiles of major legal matters. Many of these opportunities arise early on, but it is important to be able to spot them.

Please join Dykema for an instructive webinar on:

- How recent case law and changes to the Federal Rules impact the need for client and in-house legal department readiness
- Planning for a contingency and making your virtual “red folder”
- Getting major legal matters off to smooth, efficient starts – including leveraging internal resources beyond your legal department
- Avoiding missteps whose cost and risk consequences can persist throughout the life of the matter
- Deploying technology in a realistic and defensible way
