

News & Insights

Paul Laurenza and Tom Alleman Comment on NAFTA in *BloombergBNA International Trade Reporter

February 2, 2017

Paul M. Laurenza, Managing Member of Dykema's Washington, D.C., office and leader of the firm's Automotive Government Policy & Practice group, and Thomas B. Alleman, Dallas-based member in Dykema's Commercial Litigation Practice Group and Director of the firm's Insurance Industry Group, were quoted in the BloombergBNA International Trade Reporter piece, "Trump Can Start NAFTA Talks Without Congress, Analysts Say."

The report considers the degree to which the U.S. president can renegotiate the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) with Mexico and Canada. Citing the complicated provisions of the 1993 treaty, Laurenza and Alleman predict that more profitable terms for the U.S. auto industry would be on the agenda, and that Congress would undoubtedly be drawn into the process.

Subscribers to Bloomberg Law can read the article here.

Attorneys

Thomas B. Alleman

Practice Areas

Business & Commercial

Government Policy & Practice

Industries

Automotive Government Policy & Practice

Automotive Industry Group