March 19, 2018

Tom Alleman, Dallas-based member and Director of Dykema's Insurance Industry Group, served as a featured speaker at the Original Equipment Suppliers Association (OESA) Q1 Mobility Supplier Forum. The forum took place March 8, 2018, at Flex Automotive's Silicon Valley Customer Innovation Center in Milpitas, Calif.

Alleman, who was introduced to the forum by Dykema colleague Sheryl Toby, metro Detroit-based member of Dykema's Business Services Department, shared insight on issues the insurance industry will face as it pertains to autonomous and connected vehicles.

Dommond Lonnie, Los Angeles-based member and Director of Dykema's Automotive Industry Group, and Mark Malven, Ann Arbor-based member and leader of Dykema's Technology and Outsourcing Transactions practice, also attended.

The automotive forum, which meets quarterly in Silicon Valley, is a series of meetings intended to help West Coast automotive suppliers advance business interests as they relate to connected and transformative technologies.
