

News & Insights

Richard Lieberman Quoted in Law360 Article About Tax “Opportunity Zones”

October 24, 2018

Richard Lieberman, Chicago-based senior counsel of Dykema’s Tax Practice group, was quoted in the Law360 article “What To Know About Building In Tax ‘Opportunity Zones.’”

The article discusses how recently proposed federal regulations clarifying tax breaks and incentives will likely lead to new buildings being built and old buildings get made over in the next year in certain low-income areas designated as “opportunity zones.” Lieberman alludes to how important it is for the construction industry to know they have time to get projects done because of a 31-month safe harbor.

Subscribers to Law360 can read the full story here.

Attorneys

Richard L. Lieberman

Practice Areas

Taxation

Industries

Construction Law