William Lentine Named to 2014 Law360 Tax Editorial Advisory Board

Joins 15-Member Board That Will Provide Feedback on Law360 Coverage of Tax Realm, Provide Insights on How to Shape Future Coverage

February 24, 2014

William C. Lentine, an attorney in Dykema's Taxation and Estates group resident in the Firm's Bloomfield Hills office, has been named by Law360 to its 2014 Tax Editorial Advisory Board. This 15-member group includes tax lawyers from all across the U.S. who have experience in tax counseling, tax planning and tax litigation in federal, state and local jurisdictions. The group will provide feedback to Law360 on its coverage of tax-related issues and will offer professional perspectives on how future coverage of tax-related issues should be shaped.

Lentine, the only Michigan-based attorney on this year's Law360 Tax Editorial Advisory Board, will draw upon his experience in federal income taxation, tax credit projects, family offices, mergers and acquisitions and business law in offering his insights to the advisory board.
