

News & Insights

Heather Kramer Authors Article for Chicago Daily Law Bulletin

March 16, 2015

Heather L. Kramer, Chicago-based member in Dykema's Litigation Department, authored the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin article, "How companies can defend against cyberattacks in the courtroom." The article was Kramer's first in a series of columns in the publication, dubbed "Kramer's Corner."

In the article, Kramer addresses ways for companies to defend themselves in the courtroom from lawsuits stemming from identity theft or other cyberattacks. She also delves into previous cases to help illustrate the variety circumstances and types of cases that companies face, and what methods were used in defense.

Subscribers to the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin can read the entire article by clicking here.

Practice Areas

Government Investigations and Corporate Compliance

Litigation