October 29, 2015

Brian A. Colao, Dallas-based member in Dykema's Litigation Department and leader of the firm's Dental Services Organization Group, authored the Dentistry IQ article, "Why it's important for Dental Service Organizations to license intellectual property."

In the article, Colao warns that the failure to formally license the use of intellectual property could lead to serious consequences for DSO's, including difficulties in obtaining investors, lost revenue, the potential loss of the intellectual property rights, and trouble obtaining damages against parties that infringe on their property rights.
