R. Lance Boldrey Quoted in ConstructionDive Article about the Impact of Legal Marijuana on Building Industry

October 27, 2016

R. Lance Boldrey, Lansing-based member of Dykema's Gaming & Indian Law practice group, and leader of the firm's emerging Cannabis Law practice team, was quoted in the ConstructionDive article, "Cannabis Conundrum: The High Risks and Rewards of Legalized Marijuana for the Construction Industry."

Boldrey points out that one of the "rewards" stemming from federal laws criminalizing cannabis usage, is that Michigan's marijuana-related construction projects, such as dispensaries and cultivation facilities, must be entirely carried out within state lines, thus protecting its building industry from out-of-state competition.
