

Technology Initiatives

An often silent but critically important player in the delivery of legal services is technology. At Dykema, our lawyers and other professionals are adept at striking an optimal balance between efficiency and quality through the use of technology and innovation.

From our state-of-the-art internal systems which allow for a fully mobile workforce to client facing tools—such as our dedicated client extranet DykemaConnect—the Firm carefully selects and implements those applications that provide the most value to our clients. These include such items as our email and phone systems, as well as case management, budgeting, document review and other related processes, e-discovery, and e-billing tools. We've also developed a robust, searchable and secure knowledge repository to assist with knowledge management and sharing. The results are reduced costs, better productivity and increased transparency in all our client relationships.
